The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), along with the Louisiana Oil Marketers and Convenience Store Association, is hosting a compliance assistance workshop in Kenner, Louisiana to address the oil spill prevention, preparedness and response regulations administered by the USEPA. Owners and operators, who store, process, consume, refine, gather, produce and distribute oil and oil related products are cordially invited to attend. More specifically, we will be covering recently released Spill Prevention, Control and Countermeasure regulations.

This workshop is FREE and OPEN to all owners/operators of oil and gas production, petroleum distribution, trucking/transport, bulk storage, industrial/commercial, aviation, utilities, auto dealership, and gas station/convenience store facilities

General topics of discussion will be centered on EPA SPCC inspections in the parishes surrounding New Orleans, Louisiana in the coming months. The meeting will include a review of the oil spill prevention regulations, inspections protocols, potential violations, and a question and answer session. If you have questions concerning the workshop, please contact:

Don Smith, EPA Senior On-Scene Coordinator or Mike Clonts at (469) 374-7771
